

The office of the reader is to read, and to mark what was read.

A second line, for a second quad.
And a third, under a line.

Page two: the office of the writer is to append.